

The multi-station nut cold heading machine produced by our company is well-made, especially for the production and processing of complex products. The precision components produced by many domestic military enterprises use the equipment provided by our company, and even many well-known Taiwanese equipment cannot achieve this precision.